DIPHTHERIA IN ABBOTTSTOWN

Nine Cases are Reported and Public Schools Close for the Week. Four Cases are of a Severe Form.

Abbottstown is much alarmed over the appearance there of a number of cases of diphtheria, some of which are of a severe type. The schools have been closed for the week and all precautions are taken to prevent any further spread of the disease.

Up to the present time there have been nine cases, three of which are now discharged. Of these nine four are adults and three are suffering from a form affecting the larynx and more severe than the diphtheria which only affects the throat. Of those suffering from this more severe form one is an adult. Up to the present time there have been no deaths.

Feeling that the spread of the disease must be avoided, if possible, the school board agreed to the closing of the three schools for the week and the rooms have undergone thorough fumigation. The usual precautions are in force and observed well by the families in which the cases exist, so that it is believed the contagion may be checked.

Diphtheria has appeared lately at several places in the county but there has been no sign of epidemic. Abbottstown's experience is the worst in this section, nine cases in a town that size being a sufficient proportion to cause some alarm.

They intend to make York the center of their ribbon industry, and the new mill will be a duplicate of the one now in operation. FIND THAT MAN WAS JUSTLY HELD

Man who Rode into Gettysburg on Horseback at Midnight Found to have Traded Outfit of Another on Horse.

William Addlesperger, giving his name also as Howe and Shaley, arrested early Saturday morning by Officers Shealer and Emmons, has had his guilt established, it is said, and is now being held here pending the arrival of the authorities from Maryland.

Addlesperger has proved one of the most adept perverters of the truth which has ever graced a cell in the local county jail, say the authorities. His numerous names, his varied stories, his tale about the horse on which he rode into Gettysburg, and many other bits have spotted him as chief of his fraternity.

After an investigation by the officers it was found that Addlesperger, who lived between Taneytown and Emmitsburg for some time, hired a horse and buggy in Emmitsburg on Friday, drove to Taneytown and there traded the outfit to Hal Poole, the well-known horse dealer, for a horse, saddle and bridle with $10 "to boot." It was with this outfit that he came into Gettysburg and stopped at the Fleming and Bair stables after midnight Saturday morning.

His assertion that he wished to get shelter for the horse there and leave early the next morning before the people of town were about, gave Ben. Carter the clue to transmit to the Gettysburg police who soon secured a softer berth in the jail for the Marylander.

When questioned about the bridle and saddle of the horse, which he claimed to have had for several years, Addlesperger showed that he knew nothing whatever about them and gave descriptions which were entirely wrong.

Just what charge will be preferred has not been stated but the matter will, it is expected, be taken up in a few days by the Maryland authorities.

TO ENLARGE HANOVER

Hanover Factories Say they Want More Fire Protection.

As the result of an agitation on the part of residents and owners of manufacturing plants at the western end of Hanover for better fire protection, a movement looking toward the annexation of that territory to the borough of Hanover was launched at a meeting of the town council. President Rudisill stated that it was the desire of council to give every consideration to the request of the manufacturers for the protection of their plants, but being beyond the boundaries of the borough, the first consideration is to the town itself where the property owners pay taxes from which the fire department is maintained.

PHEASANTS NUMEROUS

Local Hunters See Many Pheasants on the Mountain.

A number of Gettysburg hunters who have been at the various deer camps during the past ten days state that they have seen many pheasants and that the birds are more plentiful than at any time since the pest which killed so many a few years ago. Moses Bair tells of seeing seven at one time while other hunters have seen as many as three and four together. The rules of the deer hunting camps forbid shooting at small game during the drive and as a result few birds have been bagged.

HOG CHOLERA IS CONQUERED

Vigorous Methods Taken under Direction of State Authorities Prove Successful in Conquering Expensive Disease.

Rapid progress has been made in stamping out the deadly hog cholera which made its appearance in Adams County last week after working much harm in Frederick county, Maryland, from where it is supposed to have invaded this section, doing most of its damage in Liberty township.

Dr. C. J. Marshall, state veterinarian, was notified of the appearance of the disease here and he at once forwarded to Dr. E. D. Hudson over $200 worth of hog cholera serum, with instructions to vaccinate all animals necessary to stamp out the scourge. Dr. Hudson vaccinated widely in the district where the disease prevailed and also placed a number of hogs under quarantine with the result that the disease has been checked.

Those in charge of stamping out the disease are anxious that, if it makes its appearance anywhere else in the county, the owners of infected animals shall notify the proper authorities at once so that it may not get a start and prove an expensive burden to the farmers of the county.

In Maryland similar steps are being taken to check the ravages of the disease and success has followed the efforts there also with the result that Adams County now hope for an early and complete triumph over the contagion.

275 POUND BUCK

Gettysburg Boy Shoots Big Deer in the West.

Orville M. Ott, son of Rev. and Mrs. L. Dow Ott, of Baltimore street, street, writes to his parents from Buhl, Minnesota, that on the first day of the hunting season he shot a nine prong, 275 pound buck. The animal was the finest of the type shot in that section for many years and was so large that it was taken to Buhl with difficulty. It was finally loaded on a hand car and taken five miles in that way after which it was hauled in a wagon the balance of the distance. Mr. Ott had several other opportunities to kill bucks but the limit is one in Minnesota as it is here. He is teaching school in Buhl and enjoys that part of the country greatly.

A large buck was shot by George Murtorf, of Starlers, one day recently.

The Brysonia hunting camp had a blaze some nights ago when the canvas of one of the tents caught from a stove. Most of the men were asleep at the time but the blaze was discovered before any serious damage had been done.

HUNT HAZERS

Carlisle College Routed by Awful Hazing Outrage.

In an effort to have the terrible acid burns removed from his forehead and chin, D. Hammond Smith, a member of the freshman class of Dickinson College who was terribly burned with nitrate of silver when he was hazed a few evenings ago, was taken to Philadelphia on Sunday by the college authorities, and his case will be treated by a specialist. The young man was accompanied by Howard Selby, a senior of Dickinson, and a Philadelphia.

A secret investigation is being made by the college authorities, and outside aid is being pressed into service in the matter. Smith comes from a wealthy family of Williamsport, and it is announced that his family will in all probability offer a reward for the arrest of the guilty parties. It is believed that two young men outside of the college, in addition to three college students, had a hand in the deed.

BOYS IN FIGHT

Between Littlestown and McSherrystown Boys in Hanover.

William Becker, of McSherrystown, was arrested by Officer Whaler in Hanover about 10 o'clock Saturday night for disorderly conduct, the result of a fracas. Becker was taken to jail and after a brief confinement, was released by Burges Shelly, after forfeiting a cash sum for his appearance before the Burgess.

SERBIA PREPARES TO FIGHT AUSTRIA

Reported to be Mounting Big Guns at Belgrade.

VIENNA EXPECTS CONFLICT

Relations Are So Strained That Political Circles Have Abandoned Hope For Peace.

London, Nov. 26.—It is reported at Vienna that the Belgrade forts are being hastily armed with heavy guns by the Serbian war office.

Information has also been received that all the Serbian troops who can be spared from Pristina and Monastir have been recalled to the Serbian capital.

Relations between Austria-Hungary and Serbia are now so strained that political circles in Vienna have abandoned hope of the preservation of peace, according to the Neue Gesellschaftliche Correspondenz, of Berlin, which says it has its information from a diplomatic source.

Despite official Austrian denials of the reported mobilization of the Austro-Hungarian army, the Correspondenz declares that five army corps have been already mobilized and the reserves continue to be called up in large numbers.

The Austro-Hungarian government, it continues, is resolved not to await the return of the Serbian troops operating against the Turks, and an ultimatum to Serbia may be expected in a few days.

The situation has become more acute through the changed attitude of Russia. Sergius Sazonoff, the Russian foreign minister, after having declared suitable as a basis for further negotiations the Austrian proposal guaranteeing Serbia a free port on the Adriatic sea and a Serbian railway through Albania, but without territorial rights, has now abandoned this standpoint.

Austria is now disposed to push the question to a decision because if war is inevitable she wants to take advantage of her mobilization being more advanced than that of the Russian army.

Serbia notified Austria that she cannot definitely define her attitude in regard to obtaining a port on the Adriatic sea until the end of the Balkan war. This action followed a council, at which King Peter presided.

While Turkey and the Balkan allies are engaged in efforts to arrange a truce between the opposing armies preparatory to a definite peace, preparations elsewhere for possible trouble on a larger scale show no signs of abatement.

While the intentions of the great European powers undoubtedly remain peaceful, Austro-Hungarian procedure seems to foreshadow separate action which will make difficult the realization of the plan of Premier Asquith, of Great Britain, for the settlement of near eastern questions as a whole when the war is over.

The withdrawal of the Austrian warship Admiral Spain and of the Austrian contingent of bluejackets from Constantinople, and the sudden and unexplained departure for an unannounced destination of the Austrian squadron which has been lying at Smyrna, are factors which are disturbing diplomats, who see in a close union of all the great powers the only hope of a peaceable solution.

The information that the Serbian war office has recalled all the Serbian troops that can be spared from the columns operating in the neighborhood of Pristina and Monastir, and that the fortifications of the Serbian capital are being hastily supplied with heavy artillery, leads the Austrians to infer that Serbia is not disposed to yield, and a pacific settlement of the Austro-Serbian dispute seems to them difficult of realization if Serbia's demands are maintained as an irreducible minimum.

Unconfirmed messages from Vienna stated that 11,000 Austrian troops have arrived at Gravosa, on the Gulf of Cattaro, in Dalmatia. Within the next twenty-four hours there will be nearly 20,000 Austrian soldiers at Gravosa, which is an important strategic position on the Adriatic sea. Messages from Cattaro say that 16,000 additional troops are being disembarked at Gravosa from transports to help strengthen the garrison.

EIGHTEEN MINERS HURT IN CAVE-IN

Fall of Roof Traps Men and Several May Die.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Nov. 26.—Eighteen men were seriously injured by a cave-in at the Barnum mine, No. 2, of the Pennsylvania Coal company at Duryea. The cave-in came without warning, and the injured men were partly covered by the slate and coal. Rescuers promptly went to work and the entombed men were taken to the surface before gas could accumulate.

Thirty other men, who were in the mine at the time, escaped by a second opening.

The most seriously injured are: A. E. Jetter, superintendent of the colliery, injured internally; John J. McNulty, miner and treasurer of the school district of Pittston; Frank Flannery, miner; Martin Reap, miner, and James Langan, miner. All the other victims are foreigners. Several of the injured are likely to die.

Nearly all the physicians in the vicinity were summoned to the shaft to attend to the injured. Most of the victims were removed to the Pittston hospital.

An investigation shows that the accident was caused by a depression in the surface, which caused the roof to fall and entombed the men in the place they were working.

WOMAN LEAPS 20 STORIES TO DEATH

Thought White Slavers Threatened Her.

BODY IS BADLY CRUSHED

She Had Crimson Linen on Her Breast and acon and Tea in Her Handbag.

Chicago, Nov. 26.—Possessed with the idea that she was pursued for dishonorable purposes, Miss Maude Van Deusen, twenty-five years old, leaped from the twentieth story of the McCormick building and was crushed to death on the stone paving of an alley at the street level.

She jumped from a fire escape nearly 250 feet above the ground. Her body struck another fire escape at the first floor and bounded into the alleyway. Nearly all the bones in her body were broken.

Miss Van Deusen, according to papers on her person, was a school teacher at Humboldt, Neb. It appeared that she had been seeking a position in Chicago and had been obsessed with the idea that she had been in danger from white slavers. She wrote that she had been driven to appeal for protection to Chief of Police McWeeny, to the federal department of justice and to social settlement workers.

She had prepared for death by pinning across her bosom a strip of white linen, which had been stained crimson at either end, and on which she had printed in large letters:

"Death before dishonor."

She had tied around her neck a copy of the New Testament, in which she had marked passages in St. John. She held her handbag in her hand and it was picked up near her body. In it was another marked Bible and a typewritten statement of several thousand words, entitled "Part of my life's history." "I will die clean, if I have to kill myself," was written at the head of one of the sheets.

A strip of bacon, a small paper of pepper, an ounce of tea and $3.19 in currency were found in the handbag.

"I am trying to write this without the least emotion," her typewritten statement began, "and though the following statement may seem dramatic, your reason will assure you that they contain only common sense."

"I have very little money and am not allowed to hold a position. I will accept no money but what I earn."

"If I do not get help it will be a certainty that I cannot escape falling into the hands of the spiritualist white slave trade and that will force me to self-destruction."

The police are mystified over what Miss Van Deusen meant by "spiritualist white slave trade."

GETS $10,000 HEART BALM

U. S. Court Upholds Verdict Against Rich Constable.

Scranton, Pa., Nov. 26.—Jacob Suravitz, of Olyphant, a one-armed constable, worth from $75,000 to $100,000, must pay $10,000 of his fortune to Miss Katie Pristacz, his former housekeeper, for breach of promise to marry her.

In an opinion just received from the United States circuit court of appeals the judgment of $9700 allowed by the jury has been sustained.

Miss Pristacz came to America two years ago and entered Suravitz's home as his housekeeper. He is a widower. A year ago the girl started suit, charging Suravitz with deceiving with promises of marriage and with throwing her out of the house when she insisted that he keep his word.

At the trial of the case Suravitz appeared in court literally in rags, apparently to disabuse the minds of the jurors of the truth of the allegation that he was rich.

The verdict is said to be the largest judgment ever given in Pennsylvania in a breach of promise suit.

PRETTY MATCH-BOX HOLDER

Ornament May Be Made Out of an Otherwise Unlikely Thing Useful Object.

With packets of matches tin holders are often included, and these tin holders are in themselves generally rather unsightly objects, but with little trouble they can be made very ornamental, either for our own use at home or perhaps for sale in a bazaar, where, as their cost is so trifling, they should well at a good profit. They can be decorated and made to look pretty in many ways, and one of the simplest methods of ornamenting them is to cover them with enamel in some delicate light tint and after it is dry, paint flowers upon them.

The box from which our sketch was drawn was treated in a different manner and was covered with thin pale blue silk, turned over at the edges and fastened just inside with mullage. A simple conventional design was worked in silver thread upon the upper surface, and the whole effect was most pleasing and dainty. The design is quite a simple one and may easily be worked from the diagram on the right hand side of the sketch, and must, of course, be embroidered upon the material prior to covering the tin. Fine feather-stitching embroidered in silk to match outlines the openings on each side.

It is a good idea with holders of this kind to work or paint the names of the room to which the match-box belongs in tiny letters on one corner of the upper side.

Hair Ornaments Worn.

Ornaments are always worn in the hair, and a narrow bandeau of velvet is still popular. A Paris house shows a narrow stiff band of blue velvet sewed with colored beads, from the center of which springs up a peacock's feather in natural colors, a bizarre and striking ornament. Another band of velvet is sewed with brilliants, and a white osprey rises in the middle in a fashion that is both becoming and dignified.

Scotch Stitching.

The last word in embroidery is the Scotch stitching. The real beauty of this embroidery is dependent upon the coloring. Corduroy is to be much used for children's coats. In a tan, brown or gray it is both smart and serviceable.

Two Sorts.

Some men believe in being gay and laughing at their cares. While others mope along their way just envying millionaires.

SENATOR ISIDOR RAYNER.

Maryland Democrat Who Died In Washington.

SENATOR RAYNER DIES AT CAPITAL

His Death May Cause Tie in Upper House.

Washington, Nov. 26.—Senator Isidor Rayner, of Maryland, one of the leading Democratic members of the United States senate and a man whose name was offered to the Baltimore convention by William J. Bryan as a suitable compromise candidate for the presidential nomination, died here of neuritis.

Senator Rayner had been in a serious condition for about six weeks and had been in a comatose condition for the most part since last Wednesday. The control of the United States senate after March 4 may hinge on the death of Senator Rayner. The Republican whom it is expected Governor Goldsborough, of Maryland, will appoint in his place will hold office at least until the Maryland legislature meets in January, 1914, when a Democrat probably will be elected.

Mr. Rayner's death removes one of the Democrats on whom the control of the senate depended in the new congress. With his vote the Democratic leaders counted on mastering forty-nine, or one more than a majority of the total membership of ninety-six. In any event, forty-eight votes, with the vote of the vice president in case of a tie, was looked upon as sufficient strength to insure control. While the Democrats still have an apparent strength of forty-eight, the death of the Maryland senator reduces the supposed majority to a point very near the vanishing point.

Senator Rayner's illness from neuritis covered a period of nearly five years. He attempted to enter actively into the recent presidential Democratic campaign and met Bourke Cockran in joint debate at Baltimore late in September. The effort exhausted him and he became seriously ill immediately afterward.

PLANNED TO BLOW UP PANAMA CANAL

Says Explosions Were Arranged When Arrests Were Made.

OTHER JOBS WERE STOPPED

Buildings in Pittsburgh and Other Eastern Cities Were Marked For Destruction.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 26.—Witnesses at the "dynamite conspiracy" trial testified concerning "wholesale explosions," which the McNamara brothers were alleged to have contemplated, but which were prevented by the arrests of the dynamiters at Detroit and Indianapolis in April, 1910.

The explosions contemplated, as told by witnesses, were:

To blow up the locks of the Panama canal.

To blow up a building in Pittsburgh occupied by officials of iron and steel contractors who employed non-union men, and also to blow up offices in other eastern cities.

To blow up the aqueduct and water works at Los Angeles and to cause other explosions there that would "make it look like an earthquake."

To blow up a sleeping car to get rid of a stenographer formerly employed by the iron workers' union, because she "knew too much."

An assertion by Orville E. McManigal that he was urged to go to Panama by J. J. McNamara as a dynamiter previously had been referred to by District Attorney Charles W. Miller as one of the revelations to be made at the trial.

Plots to blow up the Frick building in Pittsburgh, to blow up other buildings in eastern cities, where "open shop" iron and steel contractors had their offices and to explode a bomb in a sleeping car in order to kill Miss Mary C. Dye, a stenographer, were described by Lindsey L. Jewell as having been revealed to him by Herbert S. Harkin.

McManigal then resumed his confession on the witness stand.

"Tell what, if anything, you and the McNamaras said about blowing up work on the Panama canal," said District Attorney Miller.

"In April, 1911, shortly before we were arrested, J. J. and J. B. McNamara and myself had a talk at the iron workers' headquarters in Indianapolis as four jobs planned for Detroit," said McManigal. "J. J. said the McClintic-Marshall Construction company, a non-union concern, had two years' work on the Panama canal and he wanted me to go there."

"He said I should go to Panama and promptly enlist as a soldier, as I already had served in the Spanish American war. I asked him if he expected me to take nitro-glycerine to Panama. He said, 'No, the McClintic-Marshall people have great stores of dynamite down there. You can watch your chance to steal it. Put a wagon load in each lock.'"

"I didn't take much to the Panama idea and told J. J. so, but he insisted he would take it up later. J. B. said at that time he had more work on the Pacific coast. He said he was going back there with an arrangement to set off bombs by touching on an electric current miles away. He said, 'I'll go out to Los Angeles and undermine the aqueduct and the water works. Then put bombs at various parts of the city and blow the whole town off the map. The people will think there has been another earthquake similar to the one at San Francisco.'"

McManigal then described his going to Detroit with James B. McNamara to blow up four jobs and their arrest there, which prevented the "wholesale explosions," which he said were soon to be carried out.

SUFFRAGISTS ELECT

In the early stages of the case Lucille Cameron was looked on as a highly important witness against Jack Johnson, but with the presentation of other evidence the government decided that it would not be necessary to hold her longer.

25 INJURED IN EXPLOSION

Two Employees of Sulphur Works Blown Into Street Will Die.

New York, Nov. 26.—Twenty-five men were injured, two mortally, by the explosion of a vat of sulphur in the Union Sulphur Mills in the Williamsburg section of Brooklyn.

Fire followed the explosion, and buildings which occupied a whole block were destroyed. The men who will die are Charles Wandell and John Concello. They were blown into the street by the force of the explosion.

The twenty-three others injured were rushed to hospitals. Tanks of the Standard Oil company opposite the burning buildings were threatened, but escaped ignition. The sulphur fumes rendered difficult the work of controlling the fire. The loss may reach $500,000.

The explosion occurred in what is known as a grinder. Forty men were at work in the sulphur mills at the time, and the flames spread with such rapidity to every part of the yards that they had difficulty in escaping. A number were overcome by the sulphur fumes and were dragged into the street by their companions.

BETWEEN 3 AND 12

KILLED IN EXPLOSION

27 Others Injured When Starch House Blows Up.

Waukegan, Ill., Nov. 26.—An explosion which wrecked the dry starch house of the Corn Products company's plant killed between three and twelve workmen, injured twenty-seven others, several of whom will die, and caused about $100,000 property damage.

Uncertainty as to the number of dead was caused by inability of firemen to search the burning ruins because of minor explosions. Deputy Coroner Edward Conrad was authority for the statement that twelve men at least were trapped.

Charles Ebert, superintendent of the plant, said that only three men had been killed and twenty-seven injured. Nearly all of the workmen killed or injured were Polish, Lithuanian or Austrian, and they were on the company's payroll by numbers, which further increased the difficulty of arriving at a correct death list.

The body of one man killed was blown across the Chicago & North western railroad right of way onto the hillside in Oakwoods cemetery. All of the injured were coated with starch.

Hamilton, Bermuda, Nov. 26.—President-elect Wilson suffered from a slight attack of indigestion, which compelled him to decline an invitation to take a sail on the private yacht of the governor, Lieutenant General Sir George M. Bullock. Mrs. Wilson and her daughter accepted.

Governor Wilson has accepted an invitation to attend an amateur theatrical performance on Thursday as the guest of Sir George and Lady Bullock. It is to be a big social event. In referring to the invitation, Mr. Wilson said: "I am not bald enough yet to sit in the first row, but I am going anyhow."

Sir George has invited all official and social Bermuda to the state banquet which will give in honor of Mr. Wilson. This will be the beginning of the end of the incumbent Governor Wilson has tried to maintain upon his vacation.

THE LEADERS.

The announcement below is from the December issue of The Ladies' Home Journal.

You can be well dressed at moderate cost—if you wear Wooltex

Wooltex garments are the most economical you can buy. They are so well tailored, and of such high-grade materials, that you can be sure they will hold their attractive appearance.

You want more than style in your coats and suits. You must have the intrinsic qualities, both inside and outside, seen and unseen, which keep a garment fresh and spick and span.

It is quality in fabric, in tailoring, in finish, that gives the Wooltex garments, as long as they last, that "just back from the tailor" freshness.

The new winter coats, of which we show three miniature pictures, are examples of Wooltex styles and values.

The Madeleine, The Teddy Bear, The Symphony—each a charming model—yet each different from all the hundreds of other fall Wooltex designs.

Good-fitting, becoming, beautiful coats, of superior quality at moderate price—therefore, economical.

Each of these is priced far below its value as measured by usual standards.

You can see the beautiful Wooltex coats, suits and skirts for fall in your own city at

ANSWER COMPLAINTS

Perhaps Complaints about Highway Department are Unjust.

In view of the complaints frequently heard here about the conduct of the State Highway Department the following editorial from the Harrisburg Telegraph is of interest.

Sometimes the best work is the least appreciated work, for the reason that it goes so smoothly and in such a regular, orderly manner that we are not conscious of its extent. Confusion, turmoil and inconvenience in our public enterprises serve to make a little one look big and their lack to make a big one look little.

This is true of the road repairing under the supervision of the reorganized State Highway Department. Singular as it may seem, there have been a number of complaints about the "delay" in setting the newly acquired State highways in order.

About a year ago the Commonwealth took possession of 7,500 miles of roads throughout Pennsylvania and put them in the hands of State Highway Commissioner Bigelow with instructions to go ahead insofar as available funds would permit.

Within that time, 6,000 miles of these roads have been repaired. Culverts have been put in. The roads have been resurfaced. Twelve thousand miles of ditches to drain off surplus water have been reopened or dug. The troublesome "thank-e-ma-ams" have been removed and the highways have been put into the best possible condition without the cutting away of hills and the filling up of dales, which would cost more money than Mr. Bigelow has to spend.

If this is delay, then let us have similar delay in all our public works. May it all be conducted as unobtrusively and as scientifically.

KILLED ON RAILROAD

Western Maryland Brakeman, Known here, Meets Tragic Death.

Harry J. Black, of Hagerstown, Western Maryland brakeman, known here, died Monday morning at 8:20 o'clock at the Washington County Hospital as the result of injuries received Sunday afternoon at 1:20 o'clock, while doing some switching work at Mill Switch, about 100 yards east of the Security Cement Plant.

The wreck train and crane, on which Black was brakeman and which was in charge of Conductor I. D. Shenk and Engineer J. P. Copeland, had been sent to security to load several large dynamites. Upon arriving at that place it was necessary to do some switching in order to get the crane in proper position.

The exact manner in which the man was injured is not known as no one saw the accident, but it is supposed that he was between the cars, coupling or uncoupling the air hose, and that one of the trainmen gave the signal to move, not knowing that Black was between the cars.

Previous to the accident Black was on the right side of the train, the side opposite the conductor and other men, but when the body was found it was on the left track.

A cry was heard and several of the crew looking back saw Black's body lying along the track. His left leg was ground off close to the body and his right leg severed. His right arm was so badly crushed that it was necessary to amputate it. He was badly cut about the head also.

Black was conscious when picked up.

NEW STAMPS

Panama Exposition Stamps to be Put on Sale in January.

The Post Office Department has prepared and will issue to postmasters some time before January 1, 1913, a new series of postage stamps known as the Panama Pacific commemorative series.

The stamps will measure about 3 1/2 by 1 1/2 inches, the long dimension being horizontal. At the top appear the words "U. S. Postage" and "San Francisco, 1913." The one cent stamp is green, and in the center appears a bust of Balboa, the discoverer of the Pacific ocean. The two cent stamp is red and represents the Gatun locks of the Panama Canal. The five cent stamp is blue and presents the Golden Gate of San Francisco harbor, with the setting sun in the background. The ten cent stamp is dark yellow, the subject being "Discovery of San Francisco Bay" from a painting of the discovery party looking out upon the distant bay.

These stamps will not be sold to the public before January 1, 1913, and will be sold to the exclusion of the regular current issue. Either commemorative or ordinary stamps will be supplied, as preferred by the purchaser.

Good-fitting, becoming, beautiful coats, of superior quality at moderate price—therefore, economical.

A LONG HEADED MAN

WILL SHOP EARLY and Avoid the Christmas Rush.

You will observe that this long-headed man also has a long face, but that there is a smile on it.

You will likewise have a smile on your face—whether said phiz is long or short—if you get your Christmas things before the stock of goods and the temper of the clerks become short.

The long-headed man or woman is the one who uses his or her brains. No one who does this will be caught in the mobs that flood the stores just before Christmas.

The person with brains will have attended to all these things before the mobs appear.

That will prove him or her long-headed, and if also long faced the features will be wreathed in smiles.

Get your smiling apparatus oiled and dosed and then go on, and do your Christmas shopping today. After that your smile will not come off till after Dec. 25.

Do your Christmas shopping early and thus prove that you have brains.

A little knowledge of the proper type of animal to select is worth a lot of money to the buyer sometimes. Attend the short course schools whenever you get a chance and study the types and breeds as well as the markets. There is a surprising difference in animals when you know what to look for—as much as there is in people.

When it is desired to spray the poultry house it is important that every square inch of space should be given a fine spray, and while small force pumps, rubber sprayers, bellows, etc., may be used, it is not so important to do the work quickly as to do it well, care being taken to force the spray mixture upon the walls and into the cracks. It must be in the form of a fine spray to reach every spot. Such methods of applying it require but a short time, and it is labor well applied if the lice are exterminated.

A LITTLE BIT HUMOROUS

A Gentle Reminder.
Smith is a young New York lawyer, clever in many ways, but very forgetful. He was recently sent to St. Louis to interview an important client in regard to a case then pending in the Missouri courts. Later the head of his firm received this telegram from St. Louis:

"Have forgotten name of client. Please wire at once."

This was the reply sent from New York:

"Client's name Jenkins. Your name Smith."—Everybody's.

Wholesale Renunciation.

There was a bevy of girls on the hotel veranda.

Algernon tells me he stopped smoking to please me," said one.

"He tells me he stopped on my account," declared another.

"He gave me to understand that I was the cause," asserted a third.

Silence for five minutes.

"Never mind, girls," spoke up a mere man. "If I could please a regiment of girls, I'd stop, too."

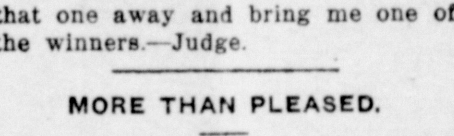

Wanted a Winner.

The man at the table—Look here, waiter! That lobster is without a claw! How's that?

Waiter—You see, they're so fresh these lobsters, they fight with each other in the kitchen.

The man at the table—Well, take that one away and bring me one of the winners.—Judge.

MORE THAN PLEASED.

Reggy—Weally, I detest slang. Peggy—Oh! joy!

Reggy—There it goes again. If you say "Oh! joy!" again I shall go straight home. I weally shall.

Peggy—Oh! joy! Oh! joy! Oh! joy!

Down and Up.

"It's hard to keep a good man down."

Said some concited pup.

But when he's in an aeroplane, 'Tis hard to keep him up.

A Slight Mistake.

"Fine food display you have here. The samples taste good. Can I order some of this stuff?"

"Sir," said the horrified attendant, "that is adulterated food which we are exhibiting as a horrible example. How can you say that it tastes good?"

Physical Objections.

"My dear, we can't take such a dark apartment as this."

"Why not?"

"Aren't we going to do light house keeping?"

Time to Go Home.

"Well, dear, I guess the honeymoon is over."

"Why do you say that?" pouted the bride.

"I've been taking stock and find I'm down to $2.65."

Proof.

"I know that man wanted to injure me. He looked at me so."

"But you can't prove anything by a look. There must be intent."

"Well, his look was intent."

Of Course.

"What is your favorite flower, duke?" asked the heiress. "But I ought to know that without asking."

"Well, what should it be?"

"The marigold."

Sweet.

"Gladys is such a sweet girl."

"Yes. She never regards people with contempt merely because they are old."

Prohibited.

Green—Misery loves company.

White—But the cook won't allow us to have any.—Harpers' Bazar.

Get some variety in the poultry ration. If the chickens are not eating heartily they may need a little change in their food to put their appetites back in tone.

Where there is hardly enough milk from a single milking to make separating worth while it may be set away until next milking time, when the cream should be thoroughly stirred in and the milk warmed up before running through the machine.

YULETIDE GIFTS FOR THE BABY.

Pretty Things That Will Delight the Heart of His Fond Mother.

Do not fail to remember the baby even should it be his or her first Christmas. Nothing will delight the hearts of parents more than some trifle bestowed upon their darling. So many inexpensive toys or dainty trifles may be fashioned out of bits of silk or lace and other odds and ends that accumulate in the scrap bag that so far as expense is concerned baby's Christmas need cost nothing.

A handy bag in which may be tucked a few toys to amuse the little one when traveling is illustrated here. It may be lined with tiny pockets in which baby's small toilet accessories can be slipped.

Doll and Bag Both.

The bag looks like a doll, the head and arms being dressed in a tiny coat of Dresden ribbon. The lower part has a round flat section of cardboard covered with wide watered silk. The upper part is made of the watered silk or of ribbon stitched to the round of covered pasteboard. A casing with ribbon run through it finishes the neck of the bag, and the two ends of the ribbon are passed through the coat so that it may be drawn down over the bag and tied in place when baby wishes it for a plaything. Being collapsible, the bag may be slipped into a satchel and will take up less room than an ordinary doll.

A Hoop Rattle.

A homemade rattle may be fashioned of ribbon, an embroidery hoop and several tiny tinkling bells. Ribbon is wound around the hoop, crossed from side to side several times and tied in tiny bows, the center of each bow having one of the bells tacked to it. When baby shakes the hoop jocular music is heard and baby is happy.

A satchel cushion of ribbon is a novelty if woven in the birth month colors of the recipient of the gift. This color is combined with white, narrow widths of satin ribbon being used and interwoven as the children make their tin-argy-tin-argy. When squares for the top and bottom have been woven these may be stitched together and a silk cord used to outline the edge of the pillow. The pillow may be filled with wadding sprinkled with sachet powder.

Crochet Bottle Cover.

A pretty and useful gift for the baby is a crocheted cover for the nursing bottle.

The glass surface of the bottle is very apt to slip away from an infant that is too young to hold the bottle in place, but if it is covered there will be no difficulty in making it rest comfortably by baby's pillow while he or she is taking food.

BABY'S RATTLE AND SACHET.

Select fine, soft zephyr—white is best—and, using a simple stitch, crochet a case that is long and wide enough to fit over the bottle. Draw up about its neck with a narrow ribbon run through the top. Such a cover can be made of silk or cotton yarn if you wish.

Not a few of our dairy folks are going to raise a crop of cowpeas as hay feed for cows this year. Cowpeas hay is next to alfalfa and clover in milk-making qualities.

Eggs to be preserved should be perfectly fresh and be placed in the solution the same day as laid to obtain the best results, although eggs several days old will keep very well. Washed eggs should not be used.
